DETAILED ACTION

1. In view of the Appeal Brief filed on June 01, 2006, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. New grounds of rejections are set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if Office action is final); or,

(2) request reinstatement of the appeal.

If reinstatement of the appeal is requested, such request must be accompanied by a supplemental appeal brief, but no new amendments, affidavits (37 CFR 1.130, 1.131 or 1.132) or other evidence are permitted. See 37 CFR 1.193(b)(2).

Examiner sincerely regrets any inconvenience this may have caused the appellant.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 63-68, 74, 78, 79, 83, 84, and 87 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Edling (4,285,253).

Edling discloses all of the limitations of claim 63 and 83, i.e., achieving a fine smooth finish by a non-grinding means of utilizing a harden object, including a non-motor-driven object, 04:25, hand cranked.

Art Unit: 3723

Regarding claims 64-68, 74, 78, 83, 84 and 87, Edling as modified by Leong meets all of the limitations, e.g., planar guide (51); elongated flat surface (Edling, 34); stationary object (not movable); rotatable cylinder; and hardened object made of glass or crystal is considered to meet the limitation of claim 78 and the guide applying force to the blade (re-action force).

4. Claims 63, 64, 67-71, 73, 77, 79, 83, 84, and 87 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Leong (2,461,690).

Leong discloses all of the limitations of claim 63 and 83, i.e., achieving a fine smooth finish by a non-grinding means of utilizing a harden object (steel 4) with knife guide (defined by stones 9 and 10).

Regarding claims 64, 67-71, 73, 77, 79, 84, and 87, Leong meets all of the limitations, e.g., stationary object (not movable); rotatable cylinder; braking mechanism (threaded connection) which is considered to meet the limitation of adjustable object (claim 70); and hardened object made of glass or crystal.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 66, 69-75, 78, 80, 85, and 86 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Edling in view of Leong.

Edling meets all of the limitations of the above claims, i.e., except for disclosing the number of objects and the locations, braking mechanism, an adjustable object, object with grooves, Rockwell hardness of C-60, handle, surface roughness, and the angle of the stroke, all considered as obvious modifications in view of Leong, for a manual device in saving cost, and/or knowledge of one of ordinary skill in the art, e.g., modifications with respect to location of parts, or dependent on work-piece/operational parameters, as indicated in the pervious office actions.

7. Claims 65, 66, 72, 74, 75, 78, 80, 83, 85, and 86 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Leong in view of Edling.

Leong meets all of the limitations of the above claims, i.e., except for disclosing the number of objects and the locations, breaking mechanism, an adjustable object, object with grooves, Rockwell hardness of C-60, handle, surface roughness, and the angle of the stroke, all considered as obvious modifications in view of Edling, for superior finish, and/or knowledge of one of ordinary skill in the art, e.g., modifications with respect to location of parts, or dependent on work-piece/operational parameters, as indicated in the pervious office actions.

8. Claim 69, in the alternative, is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over PA (Edling in view of Leong or Leong in view of Edling) as applied to claim 63 above, and further in view of Fletcher (4,450,653).

Prior art as applied meets all of the limitations of claim 69, i.e., threaded connection thus being capable of meeting the narrative/functional language, however in the alternative, except for disclosing a rotatable harden object with braking mechanism.

Fletcher teaches setting the harden object into a support by threaded means. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to further modify the modified invention of PA by using a threaded connection between the object and the support as taught by Fletcher for an adjustable object.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 81 and 82 are allowed.
10. Claims 76 and 88 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
11. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: a restraining mechanism (O-ring 20) applying a resistive force, i.e., the object being displaceable (as defined by Specification, not met by rotation of the object), and knife guide being pivotally mounted in a support member with an adjusting structure (Fig. 16A) as recited in claim 50, place these claims in condition for allowance.

Conclusion

12. Applicant's amendment of December 15, 2005 necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Response to Arguments

13. Applicant's arguments filed 12/15/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues against the obviousness rejections by the Declaration filed on 12/15/05, which appears to argue against the motivation to combine and that the combined references would not be operative. These arguments fail to provide evidence to traverse the rejections but presents arguments by the inventor traversing the rejection by arguing that the edge achieved by the references combined is not the same, motor driven apparatus is a different technology than a manual one, etc., which appear to have been more appropriate presented under the "Remakes" rather than under Rule 131, 132 affidavit, even though they are moot in view of the new rejections. However the arguments fail to point out what part of claim limitations are not met by the combined references, since broadly providing manual activity to replace a mechanical or automatic means which has accomplished the same result involves only routine skill in the art, particularly in view of the teachings as noted in the office action.

In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, modifying an apparatus by utilizing manual means is considered obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in order to save cost, particularly since Edling discloses a superior finish by using a steel, whether manual or mechanical (05:57-60) and discloses a preferred embodiment of mechanical means.
